3 Escape At Tucker Prison

TUCKER PRISON FARM, Ark. (AP) — Three inmates at Tucker Prison Farm escaped in a hall of gunfire early this morning, prison officials said. One inmate was said to be wounded and another inmate was captured shortly after the escape.

Tucker Supt. John Price said the inmates made their way somehow to the frost desk where the prison switchboard is located and overpowered Pat Whittington, a free-world desk officer.

Price said they broke into a gun box, took two high-powered rifles and several pistols and took Whittington with them through the kitchen door, that's when they tried to escape in Whittington's car.

Officers said tower guards opened up on the vehicle and authorities said the car never made it off the prison grounds. The inmates fled on foot and picked up an automatic shotgun Whittington managed to break away.

Whittington was injured and taken to a hospital at England. His condition was not known, ner and Williams with their

Heat Wave Holds for Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Intense heat, occasionally broken by afternoon thundershowers, continues to dominate the Arkansas weather picture, the U.S. Weather Bureau said today.

Temperatures are expected to continue in the low 100s. This marks the start of the fourth week in which 100-degree temperatures have been recorded across the state. No break is in sight.

Afternoon thundershowers did provide temporary relief in parts of Arkansas Sunday.
Winds gusting to 92 miles per hour were reported in Jonesboro, where wind damage was reported and the temperature dropped 24 degrees in one hour.

The forecast calls for over-all conditions to be much the same and continued hot and humid.
The low tonight is expected to be in the 70s and low 80s.

Overnight lows included 70
at Fayetteville, 73 at Pine Bluff, 74 at Jonesboro, 75 at El Dorado, 76 at Fort Smith, Little Rock and Texarkana, 77 at Memphis, and 78 at Harrison.

Rainfall of .44 at Pine Bluff,

the 24-hour period ended at 7

Sheriff Sam H. James said Sumner and Williams were charged in Natchitoches with the armed robbery of Mrs.

fleeing men took $17 and shotgun shells from the woman's home north of Natchitoches.

The FBI said federal charges of kidnaping, interstate transportation of a stolen car and violation of the federal firearms law were lodged against them at Longview.

A fourth escapee was believed to have remained in Gregg County.

The three led Texas Rangers, state police, the FBI and deputy sheriffs of eight parishes (counties) on a chase through north and central Louisiana.

At one point, Gov. John Mc-Keithen hopped in his private plane to try to meet with them.
By phone, he talked them into releasing five hostages.

The manhunt ended about 11
p.m. at the frame house of Leo Martin at Flatwoods, in the Kis-

Drug Bill Is Backed by Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon told Congress today it must act against the drug abuse problem now as "a serious national threat to the personal health and safety of millions of Americans."

Outlining the dimensions of the problem in a special message, Nixon cited an increase of nearly 800 per cent in seven years in juvenile arrests involving use of drugs.

Nixon called for new legislation, including an interim measure to correct what he called constitutional deficiencies of the marijuana tax act. It was on the basis of these that the Supreme Court struck down parts of the marijuana laws in May.

Other Nixon proposals: Development by the Justice Department of a model state narcotics and dangerous drug act.

Strengthened international cooperation to stop production of contraband drugs abroad.
Most illicit narcotics and high potency marijuana consumed in this country is produced in other countries.

San Diego Rioting Kills One

SAN DIEGO (AP) — One person was shot fatally during an outbreak of sniper fire, arson, robberies and looting touched off after arrests in the predominantly Negro southeast section of San Diego Sunday night.

An unidentified man was killed by a shotgun blast fired by the owner of a liquor store being robbed just before midnight, police said.

Police gunfire wounded three other persons who officers said had been shooting at them with a rifle. The violence began at dusk and subsided around midnight, except for sporadic incidents.

Several persons were hurt by thrown rocks and shattered glass, authorities said. No police injuries were reported. Police Capt. William Klender said
"anybody who wasn't black"
had rocks tossed at him.

The trouble started when local residents telephoned police of fighting among a large group gathered in a park. Officers investigating the complaints said they were taunted and pelted with rocks from the crowd.

Shots were fired at police from the crowd in the park after officers stopped an automobile for a routine investigation and the occupants resisted, police said.

Freedom of Choice Is Petitioned

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — Col. John Norman Warnock of El Dorado, a delegate to the state Constitutional Convention, said Saturday a petition urging that freedom of choice school desegregation plans be continued had been sent to President Nixon.

Warnock, a member of Freedom Inc., said the petition contained 1,800 signatures which he said represented 90 per cent of the persons in the Fairview and Lafayette school districts. Freedom Inc. supports freedom of choice desegregation plans.

The Department of Justice and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare have attached the freedom of choice plans of both districts.

"If our boys are going to die in a small country thousands of miles away from democracy, we should have democracy at home," Warnock said.

Wallace Hints at Try in '72

WASHINGTON (AP) — George C. Wallace says he will be a candidate for the White House in 1972—unless President Nixon manages to solve just about every major National question.

Wallace said Sunday he hopes Nixon is able to cope with foreign and domestic problems, but:

"Unless he does conclude the war honorably, give some tax reduction to the middle class in our country, cut out unnecessary spending and restore law and order, get the government out of control of public-local institutions such as the schools, unless he solves these problems then I would be a candidate in 1972."

"If he does, I would not be a candidate in 1972," Wallace said.

Wallace appeared on ABC's television-radio program "Issues and Answers."

RUSSIANS GET (from page one) its three astronauts off for the lunar landing.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, announced that Luna 15 was "launched to the moon from the orbit of an artificial earth's satellite" at 5:55 a.m. Moscow time Sunday and six hours later was 40,300 miles from the earth.

One Western diplomat in Moscow suggested that the Russians were trying for another space first—the landing on the moon of an unmanned ship which would scoop up some moon soil and return it to earth before U.S. astronauts make their landing Sunday.

If this is not the mission, the diplomat said, then Luna 15 may orbit close to the moon so that it can observe the U.S. astronauts after their landing.

Tass said Luna 15 will "conduct further scientific exploration of the moon and space near the moon." No details were given. The Soviets never announce the real missions of space shots so that if something goes wrong,

they don't have to admit failure.
The U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration said in a statement: "We welcome this further exploration of space and wish them every success in man's effort to better understand the universe around him."
But Dr. Donald Stullken, leader of the NASA team which will help recover the Apollo 11 astronauts, said that if the Russian spaceship did bring samples of the moon back to the earth, "a lot of people are going to be unhappy."

At Cape Kennedy, Fla., astronaut Frank Borman, who commanded the Apollo 8 flight and returned last week from a tour of the Soviet Union, said he believes Luna 15 was sent up to get a sample of moon soil before the U.S. astronauts.

"It will be a great feat if they can do it," Borman said, "but an unmanned machine certainly will not take the edge off Apollo 11."

Western space experts have expressed doubt that the Soviet space program is capable at this point of bringing back a moon sample.

Television and Radio

By JERRY BUCK
AP Television-Radio Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Laugh-In" producer Paul Keyes leaned back in his chair and said, "Last season we opened with Richard Nixon and closed with Billy Graham. How're we going to top that?"

The question was really rhetorical because Keyes already knows how he hopes to top it.

He has some guests in mind for cameo appearances in the opening show in September that will be just what Beautiful Downtown Burbank needs. The arrangements have not been made yet.

NBC's "Laugh-In," No. 1 in the ratings all year, has added a new dimension to the use of guest stars with its cameo shots.

"We've already got Peter Sellers and Michael Caine," said Keyes, a big, deeply tanned man with white hair and aluminum-framed glasses. The show doesn't go into production until Aug. 12 but because Caine was in town his lines had been taped that day.

"We're introducing a new tag line this season—'Wrinkle your prune,'" Keyes said. "We did it 12 ways today with Michael Caine. He said one, 'She'll wrinkle your prune.' What's it mean? I don't know, but it's funny."

Keyes said the cameo role had always been in the format, but the superstars didn't begin appearing until John Wayne broke the ice. "Duke's a friend of mine and I just threw it in as a running gag that he was going to be on the show. After four or five times he really did show up."

"We did a joke about Rock Hudson one night and the next day he called us," Keyes recalled. "Jack Lemmon was goaded into it by his kids. With Greer Garson, we just called."

A top comedy writer, Keyes wrote for Jack Paar on the "Tonight" show and later did three years with Dean Martin. Like many gag writers he can deliver a line as well as any comedian—and around just like Arte Johnson or Jack Benny or George Burns.

"When Greer Garson was on Arte Johnson walked up to her in his German uniform and said, 'Mrs. Miniver, I'm sorry for what we did to your rose garden.' He adlibbed the line and it broke up the studio," he said.

"Now this whole thing is turning out like the guest villain on 'Batman,'" Keyes said. "Everybody wants to be on. But we want to limit it to the top people."

Keyes said, "There were things we did last year we can't do this year. We're naughty, but we're not dirty. If people want to hear dirty jokes they can turn off the TV set and tell them to each other in the living room."

"But I think because of the Smothers Brothers firing and

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help Us! this newspaper.

A GIRL HAS TO BRAG, DOESN'T SHE?

Dear Helen: I was cleaning out our daughter's school notebooks when I came across a questionnaire that kind of shook me. The questions were bad enough—such things as "Have you ever gotten or given a hickey?" "Have you ever been kissed while in a reclining position?" "Have you gone all the way?" "Played strip poker with the opposite sex?" "Been French-kissed?" etc.—all the way down to such mild ones as "Have you ever dated?" "Said 'I love you'?" "Had a cocktail?"

But her answers! Helen, she's only 14, and has never even dated a boy except to go to an afternoon skating party, chaperoned by parents. True, she didn't answer many of the first group with a "Yes," but she had so many "Yesses" checked in the borderline group, such as "Have you ever been kissed in your pajamas?" "Have you ever smoked, drank, etc.," that her "score" came to just barely in the Decent category. A couple more points and she would have been marked "Indecent."

I played it cool and casually mentioned the questionnaire to her. She wasn't the least bit secretive. Said all the kids answered it, and it would have been a real disgrace if they scored themselves "pure!" So the non-daters fudged a little. "After all," she said, "Daddy has kissed me in my pajamas, and I tried a cigarette once, and also wine, right here at home. And I DID go steady for three days in the seventh grade. And Jimmy kissed me in a reclining position when he came to see me after I broke my leg."

It was all very logical, as she explained it, but Helen, WHY do kids have to make themselves out as junior sexpots when they are still at the hand-holding stage—and prefer it that way? MOTHER—COURAGE!

Dear Mother: If you can't answer that question yourself, you've forgotten how it is to be Fourteen! Who wants the "sweet and innocent" putdown when a bit of fudging will give a girl points for sophistication?—H.

Dear Helen: My husband is because of the congressional inquiries the networks are a little frightened.

The original Mr. Nice Guy. A childhood friend needed money to fix up his house, so my man took out a loan at the bank for nearly a thousand dollars, and gave it to him, with the understanding that he would be paid back at $30 a month. He didn't even ask for an I.O.U.

The fellow paid us $90, and then he asked if he could skip a month. After that he skipped a whole year. Each time my husband mentioned the loan he had a good excuse, like children's dental work or doctor bills. Then changed jobs and got an unlisted telephone number. We finally found out where they live. And we hear they are doing very well financially.

Would it be awfully rude of us to drive out there and suggest that he repay the $900 plus interest he owes us?—MRS. T.W.

Dear Mrs. W: If you don't ask, you'll never receive! I'd suggest you take a third party with you, as a witness, and if your friend can't meet the loan in cash, then have him sign a promissory note, specifying definite monthly payments.

Let's hope he is slow but honest and not a chiseler, for without an IOU you'll be up the creek unless he chooses to settle.—H.

Dear Helen: About the need for self-censorship among writers and publishers, may I quote Peter Ustinov who said, "By increasing the size of the keyhole, today's playwrights are in danger of doing away with the door."—KENNETH

Strife in Convention of Doctors

By FRANK CAREY

NEW YORK (AP) — South Carolina delegates to the American Medical Association convention have urged the AMA to withdraw its endorsement of the federal-state medical program.

AMA's endorsement of medical "could lead to the expansion of the medical program," the South Carolina delegation said in a resolution.

It was among 130 resolutions introduced Sunday at the tumultuous opening session at the Americana Hotel, during which a New York psychiatrist seized the microphone to denounce the AMA for what he said was neglect of the poor.

The South Carolina resolution said medical backers thought the medical program could and should be expanded to include all inhabitants of the United States.

It also said the current program had placed "an unbearable financial burden on states that have fully implemented it."

The 242-member House of Delegates will act on the resolutions Tuesday or Wednesday.

About 22,500 doctors are expected for the five-day convention. The AMA with 217,000 members, says it represents two-thirds of the nation's doctors.

The opening of the 118th annual convention was disrupted immediately after the National Anthem, when Dr. Richard Kunes of New York City walked to the lectern and said, "I hereby declare this meeting illegitimate, null and void."

He told the doctors, "You have delivered your services on the basis of people's ability to pay and not on the basis of their health needs." About 75 protesters joined him on the stage while he burned what he said was his AMA card. Some doctors in the audience threw ashtrays at the demonstrators, while others yelled: "Shut up!" and "Go to hell!"

Outside the hotel, about 100 doctors, nurses and medical students picketed and chanted, claiming the AMA does not represent the people.

A few minutes after Kunes left the stage, Dr. Roger C. Egeberg, newly confirmed assistant secretary of health, education and welfare, told the gathering that organized medicine "has created a distribution of medical care that suits us and the middle class"—to the neglect of the poor.

Egeberg, who was appointed after the AMA brought pressure in an effort to block the appointment of Dr. John H. Knowles of Boston to the HEW post, said doctors "must look around" and "reach out" to bring adequate medical care to the poor.

Another resolution introduced asked the AMA to oppose the Nixon administration position of freezing physicians' fees for Medicare, the health-insurance program for Americans age 65 or over, and to fix fees for the medical program.

The AMA Board of Trustees urged the House of Delegates to approve a report calling for "quick and decisive action" to discipline "those few physicians determined after investigation to be abusing Medicare and Medicaid either fraudulently or otherwise." The report did not elaborate on discipline.

Questions Concerning Moon Landing

By HOWARD BENEDICT

AP Aerospace Writer
CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — As America prepares to land two astronauts on the moon after a decade of space flight, many persons ask: What is the value of the space program? How has this nation benefitted? Where is it leading?

These and other questions are asked in the following interview with Dr. George E. Mueller, who for six years has been the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's associate administrator for manned space flight.

Q. What, in general, do you think a successful moon landing will do for the United States?

A. The moon landing will be the result of focusing the energies and creative talents of many people. Perhaps the most important single thing the establishment of the goal of a manned lunar landing really did for the nation was to give it a sense of pride and sense of accomplishment at a time when there were not many things which provided that sense of achievement.

I think the next generation not only is going to accept but expect the continuation of space exploration as part of this nation and part of the world. I can think of no better way of draining off the creative energies of the world. I would much rather have space exploration serve as a challenge and as a competitive goal between nations than any other kind of conflict.

Q. How do you think the lunar landing specifically is contributing?

A. I do not think that anybody who saw the picture, through the eyes of the Apollo 8 and 10 astronauts, of how small the world is in this vast ocean of space can ever again feel quite the same way about the purpose of small conflicts in the earth's surface itself, but rather that we are together on a very small planet and we had best find ways of working together.

Q. There are many who say that the $24 billion we have spent on the man-in-space program could better have been spent solving problems on earth. How do you answer these critics?

A. I know of no more effective way of spending $24 billion in advancing the basic productivity and basic advances in technology that are essential for creating the national wealth that will in turn make possible these kinds of programs in cancer cure and elsewhere. Our basic economy depends on the creation of new technology and in turn new science to form the basis for that technology. Without it, we will lose our competitive position among the nations.

Match or Control

There used to be one standard fashion rule for the well-dressed woman — it sometimes proved confining and often proved distressing, especially for girls working with a limited clothes and accessories budget. But, we've come a long way and we've finally been liberated from the rule. It's no longer necessary to have your shoes match your bag. Shoes can match, compliment or contrast now — the choice is yours. So if you've been saying those red shoes until you can find a red bag, drag them out—your navy blue or white will do just as well.

Minnesota Beats Pilots in a Pair

By HERSHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's becoming automatic for the Minnesota Twins to beat the Seattle Pilots, but now they're doing it Manuelly as well.

First the Twins unloaded their 1-2 punch—Frank Quilici's first homer and Cesar Tovar's second—to win the opener of their Sunday doubleheader 5-2. They took the nightcap 5-4 on the late hitting of rookie outfielder Charlie Manuel.

That made it seven-for-seven over the expansion Pilots and enabled the Twins to open a 4½-game lead over Oakland in the American League West.

The Athletics lost their opener to California 8-5, then won 7-2 as Reggie Jackson hit his 35th home run. Elsewhere in the AL, Baltimore and unbeaten Dave McNally (13-0) stopped Boston 6-3, Cleveland whipped Detroit 9-4 after losing 6-1, Washington swept the New York Yankees 5-4 and 10-1 and Kansas City downed the Chicago White Sox 8-4 before losing 4-1.

In the National League, San Francisco edged Los Angeles 3-2, San Diego nipped Atlanta 1-0, Houston outslugged Cincinnati 9-6, the Chicago Cubs swept Philadelphia 6-0 and 6-4, the New York Mets took a pair from Montreal 4-3 and 9-7 and Pittsburgh blanked St. Louis 3-0, then lost 4-2.

After Jim Kaat breezed to victory in the opener behind a 13-hit attack, the Twins found themselves on the short end of a 4-0 score in the eighth inning of the nightcap. But Manuel started them back with a two-run double in the last of the eighth and they rallied for three in the ninth to win it.

Leo Cardenas began the decisive ninth with a double and Rod Carew, just back from a weekend of Marine reserve duty, singled him home as a pinch hitter. A sacrifice, fielder's choice and Tony Oliva's single tied the score and Harmon Killebrew was purposely passed, filling the bases.

Rich Reese popped up for the second out but Manuel bounced a single into right field to win it.

Manuel won himself a job in spring training with a .404 batting average and has made the big jump from the Class AA Southern League in fine fashion, especially when you consider that his minor league record shows such nondescript marks as .206, .225 and .231. But in 1967 it suddenly went up to .313.

Oakland's Jackson had gone nine games and 45 at-bats without a home run when he connected in the fifth inning of the nightcap. That left him one game ahead of Roger Maris, who hit 61 homers in 1961, but 21 in front of Babe Ruth, who walked 60 in 1927.

Jackson, who had five hits in the twin bill, doubled and scored in the seventh and pitcher Chuck Dobson stopped the Angels on eight hits and doubled home a run.

Sal Bando, Oakland's All-Star third baseman, tied the opener with a two-run homer in the fourth, but the Angels went ahead to stay in the fifth when Jim Fregosi doubled, Aurelio Rodriguez singled and Tom Egan hit a two-run homer.

Sub outfielder Merv Rettenmund, playing in place of the injured Paul Blair, drove in three runs to help Baltimore's McNally struggle to his 13th victory of the season and 15th in a row dating back to 1968. The AL record for most consecutive victories at the start of a season is 15. McNally came out in the seventh after Boston's Tony Conigliaro hit his second homer of the game.

Earl Wilson, making his first appearance since he was hit on the pitching hand by a line drive June 29, hurled Detroit past Cleveland in the opening game as Jim Price drove in three runs with a single and Tom Tresh hit a two-run homer.

The Indians came back in the nightcap behind Luis Tiant, who was shelved out Saturday in a six-run first inning, and a four-homer attack—Tony Horton, Lou Klimchok, Ken Harrelson and Tiant hit them. Harrelson also homered in the first game.

Three-run homers by Ken McMullen in the first game and mighty Frank Howard in the nightcap helped the Senators trim the Yanks twice. Howard's booming shot, his 33rd, came off reliever Ken Johnson and was

Namath's Plans Still a Mystery

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (AP) — The Joe Namath mystery case had another chapter today following an "automatic" called by the unpredictable quarterback back at the line of scrimmage that delays for at least another 36 hours any revelation of his plans.

The line of scrimmage, manned by some 35 news media representatives, and hundreds of interested onlookers, was set Sunday at the Tower C dormitory on the Hofstra University campus here, where the New York Jets veterans were required to report by 6 p.m.

Persistent reports had speculated that Namath might show, but he slept through a noon celebration ceremony, at which the Jets of the American Football League received their championship rings, finally rose, drove out to pick up his girl friend at the airport and then stopped off at Central Park for a softball game.

But, at 4 p.m., Namath changed the play, and Tower C buzzed with the news that he put in a call to Coach Weeb Ewbank.

"He stated he has a business deal to finalize and he will do that, then get back to me Tuesday night or Wednesday," Ewbank explained. "He was apologetic that he wasn't here and I got the impression that when he finished his business he would be ready to go."

Ewbank, however, said he did not know whether the business involved concerned Bachelors III, the swinging East Side night spot reportedly frequented by gamblers, that is at the center of the dispute between Namath and pro football commissioner Pete Rozelle.

A call to Namath's East Side apartment elicited the response from a friend that Namath was going to Miami to take care of some business concerns in Broward County, a food franchise in which the quarterback has a financial interest.

Namath would not talk to reporters, thus maintaining the mystery surrounding the ultimate intentions of the slaggish-haired Super Bowl star, who announced his retirement rather than sell his interest in Bachelors III as ordered by Rozelle.

However, by placing the call to Ewbank and getting the coach's tacit approval to take care of his business, Namath technically had permission to be AWOL at camp and, therefore, did not violate the contract reportedly paying him $500,000 over a three-year period.

That fact heightened the suspicion that Namath may eventually challenge Rozelle and the pro football establishment in court by instituting an anti-trust suit, claiming he is being deprived of earning a living.

Under the theory advanced, Namath eventually will turn up in camp, renounce his retirement and announce his readiness to play, but without selling Bachelors III. That supposedly will leave Rozelle, who had ordered Namath to sell or face suspension, no alternative but to suspend him. Namath then will sue.

BATTING—Charlie Manuel, Twins, socked a two-run double in the eighth inning to start a Minnesota comeback and capped a three-run rally in the estimated at 502 feet.

The Senators scored five times before a man was retired in the first inning of the opener and Casey Cox held off the Yanks with five shutout innings of relief after Roy White's three-run homer and Horace Clarke's RBI single narrowed the margin.

Jackie Hernandez and Bob Oliver drilled two-run homers as Kansas City pasted the White Sox in their opening game. Walt Williams scored one run and singled in another for the Sox in the nightcap.

Kid Brother Outpitches Phil Niekro

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Oh brother, how will Atlanta's Phil Niekro explain his annual pitching confrontation with kid brother, Joe, to the rest of the family?

This one seemed stacked for Phil. After all, he had won 14 games—11 more than Joe, and he had the pennant-contending Braves behind him while Joe's San Diego Padres are going nowhere.

But this is the era of youth and 24-year-old Joe beat Phil, who's 30, 1-0 Sunday on a six-hitter that kept the Braves from reclaiming first place in the National League's West Division.

Joe got the only run of the game in the fourth inning when Nate Colbert doubled and scored on Ivan Murrell's single. The Braves' best chance to score ended in the sixth when left fielder Larry Stahl cut down a runner at the plate. The runner? It was, of course, Phil Niekro.

Elsewhere in the National League Sunday, New York swept a doubleheader from Montreal 4-3 and 9-7 to keep pace in the East with first-place Chicago, which won a pair from Philadelphia 6-0 and 6-4.

In other games, Pittsburgh split a doubleheader with St. Louis, winning 3-0 before losing 4-2, Houston rapped Cincinnati 9-6 and San Francisco edged Los Angeles 3-2.

In the American League, Washington swept a doubleheader from New York 5-4 and 10-1, Minnesota took two from Seattle, 5-2 and 5-4, Detroit split with Cleveland, winning 6-1 before losing 9-4, Kansas City and Chicago divided two, the Royals taking the first 8-4 and the White Sox the nightcap, 4-1. California beat Oakland 8-5 in the first game and then lost 7-2 and Baltimore dropped Boston 6-3.

The Niekros had split their first two career meetings, Phil winning in 1967 and Joe last season.

Phil gained some satisfaction by tagging his brother for a single but it was all but wiped out when, after moving to second on Felipe Alou's hit, he was thrown out by Stahl on another single by Tony Gonzalez.

Ed Kranepool, who had tied the score with a sacrifice fly in the first game for the Mets, won it with an eighth-inning double that scored pinch runner Bud Harrelson from first base.

Then Tommie Agee cracked two homers and scored four runs as New York wiped out a four-run deficit to take the nightcap from the Expos. Rusty Staub homered and drove in six runs in the doubleheader for Montreal.

Ken Holtzman won his first game in more than a month, pitching a four-hitter for the Cubs in the opener against the Phillies. It was Holtzman's fifth shutout of the season but his first complete game since June 10.

Ernie Banks drove in four runs in the nightcap with a single, triple and sacrifice fly. The triple was the first in two seasons for the veteran slugger.

Roberto Clemente cracked a three-run homer in the eighth inning of the opener, breaking up a pitching duel between Pittsburgh's Jim Bunning and Bob Gibson of the Cardinals. Gibson struck out six and ran his career total to 2,002, becoming the 20th pitcher in history to pass 2,000 strikeouts.

Nelson Briles pitched six perfect innings in the nightcap before surrendering a hit. Then, after Pittsburgh had reached Briles for two runs tying the game, the Cards salvaged the split on Tim McCarver's tie-breaking sacrifice fly and three walks which forced in another run.

Houston exploded for seven runs in the seventh inning and whipped Cincinnati. Doubles by Hector Torres, John Edwards, Doug Rader and Julio Gotay keyed the Astros' big inning. Fred Whitfield homered for the Reds.

Bobby Bonds drilled a run-scoring single and a homer, backing Mike McCormick's sixth-inning pitching as the Giants trimmed the Dodgers. Homers by Maury Wills and Manny Mota accounted for both Los Angeles runs.

ninth with a tie-breaking single that gave the Twins a 5-4 victory over Seattle and a doubleheader sweep.

PITCHING—Ken Holtzman, Cubs, hurled a four-hitter for his first victory since June 10 and first complete game since May 20 as Chicago routed Philadelphia 6-0 in a doubleheader opener.

Hogs Will Play on Astroturf

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Frank Broyles has a surefire attention getter at any Razorback booster club meeting.

He whips out a sample of Astroturf and watches confidently as a raw egg bounces a foot or so off the artificial surface without cracking.

"We've got a sample in the house," Broyles says. "We got it out the other day and the egg bounced about 1½ feet when I dropped it from above my head."

"It's fantastic," he says, "I honestly believe you can drop an egg from the top of the press box and it won't break. I'm going to try it when we get the Astroturf in the stadium."

Broyles says workmen will not spend valuable practice time becoming acquainted with the surface.

"We're going out on it once and then forget about it," he says. "We don't want the players to think about it more than football."

The decision by the American Broadcasting Co. to telecast the Arkansas-Texas game nationally Dec. 6 enabled Arkansas to purchase the turf. The U of A program will realize about $250,000 from three television appearances.

Besides assuring a perfect playing surface for the Arkansas-Texas game, Astroturf has other benefits.

"Going to Astroturf gives us an all-weather practice field," Broyles says. "It's ready for game day, permanently."

"Then there is the injury factor," he said. "The best recommendation for artificial turf is that the people who've used it report a sharp decline in the number of serious injuries."

"You don't have situations in which a player is hit while his cleats are firmly dug in," he said. "Our medical advisers tell us that the Astroturf should sharply reduce the number of our injuries."

The sub-surface construction calls for an 11-inch layer of crushed rock and a five-inch asphalt overlay. The Astroturf, which consists of a five-eighths inch underpad and a one-half inch artificial grass surface, will be bonded to the asphalt overlay.

The Razorbacks will play Tulsa on Sept. 27, Texas A&M on Nov. 1 and Texas on the artificial surface.

Freestyle Swim Champ Is 'Tired'

SANTA CLARA, Calif. (AP)—Debbie Meyer, who holds four world freestyle swimming records, has some good news for long-suffering freestylers. She's getting tired of it.

After winning her third event at the three-day Santa Clara International Invitational Swim Meet Sunday, Debbie said she was looking for new fields to conquer—in this case the individual medley.

The 16-year-old Sacramento, Calif., gal who won three freestyle gold medals at the Olympics last year and holds world records in four of the overhand events, indicated she has a hard time getting excited about her specialty any more.

She won the 1,500 meter freestyle Sunday narrowly beating Vicki King, but her time was 17:41.9, more than 10 seconds slower than her world mark of 17:31.2.

On Saturday Debbie won the 400 meters and won in 5:13.1. On Friday, she took the 400 freestyle in 4:26.4, two seconds slower than her world record.

Mark Spitz had a fruitful, if frustrating, weekend, tying two world records and one American mark. That he is the world's premier swimmer today he left no doubt.

Sunday, Spitz swam the 100-meter freestyle, an event he began swimming seriously only this year, in 52.6, tying Ken Walsh's U.S. mark and missing Mike Wenden's world standard by four-tenths.

Friday, Spitz tied his own world record of 55.6 in the 100-meter butterfly and Saturday he tied Don Schollander's world standard of 1:54.3 in the 200-meter freestyle.

No world records were set Sunday but two were set Saturday. Those came from Roland Matthes of East Germany, who lowered his own 200-meter backstroke mark one-tenth to 2:07.4, and Gary Hall, who cut Charles Hickcox's 400-meter individual medley mark to 4:38.7.

BEFORE GOING OUT ON the field, ace Met pitchers Tom Seaver, top, and Jerry Koosman check the sports pages in Shea Stadium clubhouse.

Unser, Indy Victor, Wins USAC Race

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Bobby Unser, the 1968 Indianapolis 500 winner, was tickled with his new toy from the heavyweight division: a major U.S. Auto Club stock car victory.

The racing veteran from Albuquerque, having never won a stock car race other than the recent Pikes Peak hill climb, took the lead with only six miles remaining Sunday, and won the USAC Miller 200-mile stock car feature.

"I'm not used to all these pit stops," Unser said after picking up the trophy and $7,526 from the record $52,735 purse.

Unser, whose Holman-Moody 1969 Ford Torino went into a spin early in the race, took the lead when Jack Bowsher went into the pits. He finished 2½ seconds ahead of Don White, Keokuk, Iowa.

Unser averaged 92.270 miles an hour. Bowsher was third. Veteran Norm Nelson of Racine, having been out of competition for more than a month, was fourth.

In other races, David Pearson, of Spartanburg, S.C., defending NASCAR national champion, added to his lead in this year's standings by outdueling Bobby Isaac of Catawba, N.C., to win the northern 300 at Trenton, N.J.

At Watkins Glen, N.Y., Bruce McLaren picked up $10,000 by winning his second of three races run in the Canadian-American Challenge Cup road race series.

Travelers Win Over Memphis

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Travelers, behind righthander Dick McVay, overcame 100 degree heat and the Memphis Blues Sunday for a 7-5 Texas League victory.

Arkansas won it in the seventh inning when Jerry Wild yielded 11 bases. The Blues charged back in the ninth but failed to cash in with the potential winning run on base.

The victory brought the Travelers within 3½ games of the pace-setting Blues.

In other league action, Albuquerque rallied for five runs in the bottom of the tenth inning to nip Amarillo 8-7, El Paso blasted Dallas-Fort Worth 12-4, and San Antonio defeated Shreveport 4-0.

Nodouble Is Nosed Out by Argentinian

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Fignero imported from Argentina might sound like a delicacy. And it was for C.L. Hirsch.

Hirsch brought the 4-year-old colt to this country at a cost of about $80,000, and last Saturday Fignero won the $162,100 Hollywood Gold Cup Handicap by a length over Gene Goff's heavily favored Nodouble.

The victory was worth $102,000.

Elmendorf's Verbatim scored a wire-to-wire victory in the $113,800 Amory L. Haskell Handicap at Monmouth Park; Neil Hellman's Gleaming Light also led all the way in winning the $81,150 Dwyer Handicap at Aqueduct, and Mrs. Whitney Stone's Shuvee took the $55,200 Cotillion Handicap at Liberty Bell Park.

Fignero, ridden by Alvaro Pineda, held off a strong stretch run by Nodouble in covering the 1¼ miles of the Gold Cup at Hollywood Park in 1:58 4-5, W.R. Tawn's Poleax was third in the field of six.

In returning a winning mutuel of $13.20, Fignero carried 115 pounds, three less than Poleax and 14 less than the high-weighted Nodouble.

Pete Anderson sent Verbatim, $27.20, over the 1¼ miles of the Haskell in 2:02 1-5 for a five-length victory over Lazy F Ranch's San Roque, with C.V. Whitney's Chompton third in the field of 11.

ployment of the system, insisting the administration come to an accommodation with Safeguard opponents. He became the 50th senator to oppose Safeguard.

Sources close to Prouty, while professing no advance knowledge of his decision, had stressed "He would weigh very heavily" the reasoning laid out by Aiken, who called on the administration to accept modification of the Safeguard proposal so it can be backed in forthcoming arms talks with the Russians by a large Senate majority.

Prouty voted three times last year to delay the Johnson administration's Sentinel ABM system and said, after Nixon unveiled Safeguard, that he was skeptical but would have to study it.

Besides the senators opposed to ABM missile deployment, 48 favor it and Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., refuses to state his position, according to latest checks by The Associated Press.

In spite of the reported opposition, ABM supporters still predict victory.

Prouty's speech casts an unusual spotlight on a 62-year-old senator best known for his committee work on manpower and poverty programs.

It came against a backdrop of reports that the administration is exploring the possibility of accepting—if necessary—something along the lines of Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre's proposal to delay authority for ABM missile deployment while going ahead with the rest of the Safeguard system.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has indicated to some ABM backers that, if such a fallback becomes necessary, the administration could live with the McIntyre proposal.

Aiken, said again over the weekend modification "is necessary to avoid political disaster" for the administration. "What happens on the ABM vote will have considerable effect on other programs," he said.

The Vermont Republican, his party's senior Senate member, indicated he was dissatisfied with both the McIntyre amendment and one introduced by Sens. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., and Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., limiting the ABM to research and barring any deployment or site acquisition.

Laird is reportedly adamant in opposition to the Hart-Cooper amendment.

But the McIntyre proposal would permit work on installation and testing of Safeguard's radar and computers at the two initial ABM sites in Montana and North Dakota, a development the secretary considers vital to keep the program on schedule.

Hart and Cooper, however, oppose McIntyre's amendment as not really a compromise.

Skirmishes Reported in Vietnam

By RICHARD PYLE
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. forces fought a series of skirmishes with enemy forces "on the move" in provinces northwest of Saigon where American officers say a new Communist push may be developing, the U.S. Command said today.

A total of 52 enemy were reported killed in the encounters, including 10 in the second day of fighting on the lower slopes of 3,232-foot Black Virgin mountain, which dominates the rice plains around Tay Ninh City.

Light, scattered contact also was reported from other parts of the country as the first large contingent of U.S. Marines boarded ships at Da Nang to pull out of the war zone.

The 2,800 men of the 9th Marine Regiment's 1st Battalion are part of the 25,000 Americans slated to leave South Vietnam by the end of August under President Nixon's withdrawal order.

The U.S. Command also announced that additional elements of the 9th Infantry Division and a National Guard unit, the 650th Medical Detachment, will leave for the United States on Tuesday. The first large body of troops in the withdrawal were 814 men of the 9th Division who flew home July 8.

The starkest fighting reported today occurred Sunday afternoon as armored troops of the 1st Infantry Division probed the lower slopes of Black Virgin mountain.

The 1st Division men had reported killing 32 Viet Cong on Saturday when they went in to check the results of B52 strikes on enemy positions on the jungle slopes.

Artillery and fighter-bombers pounded the mountainside again Sunday as the armored troops fired at areas where enemy troops were holed up in bunkers, caves and trenches.

Sgt. Peter Copeland of Houston, Mo., said the mountain was "like a rotten log."

"You beat on it and the bugs come bouncing out," he said. "It must be awfully noisy up there."

A search of the area late Sunday produced the bodies of 10 more enemy who had been killed by small arms fire, bringing to 42 the total claimed in two days. There were no U.S. casualties, he command said.

The U.S. Command also announced the launching of another Marine sweep along the coast south of Da Nang, the third such operation in that area in two months. The headquarters said men of the 26th Marines made a helicopter assault from aboard ship to seven miles south of the city on July 10, and 21 enemy have been killed. Seven American wounded were reported.

In another delayed report the U.S. Command said U.S. 9th Division Infantrymen killed 38 Viet Cong in a fight Saturday near the Plain of Reeds, along the Cambodian border 70 miles west of Saigon.

China to Resume Talks With Soviet

By ANTHONY C. COLLINGS
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — The Chinese Communists said they would return to the table with Soviet negotiators today after a walkout of only two days from the talks on navigation along their disputed Asian border.

After nearly a month of meetings in the Soviet border town of Khabarovsk, on the Amur River, the negotiators reached an impasse last week and the Chinese walked out Saturday.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, announced Sunday that the Chinese delegation had told the Soviets that "contrary to its statements of July 12, it has decided to remain in Khabarovsk."

The Chinese said they were ready to resume work today on plans for traffic, maintenance work and the new wording of shipping regulations affecting both sides of the border across which Soviet and Chinese forces have been clashing with growing frequency. A Soviet representative replied that his delegation was ready to continue the talks.

Tass reported earlier that the Chinese had walked out because the Soviets would not discuss Chinese claims to large areas inside the Soviet Union's Asian border. The Soviets said the commission could only discuss border river shipping, not such matters as territorial claims.

Since the current series of border clashes began last March, the Kremlin has offered to discuss the broader aspects

Lightning Hits Prime Cattle

ROME, Ga. (AP) — For more than 10 years Mrs. Denton S. McCluney of near Rome had been breeding a prize herd of Black Angus cattle. She finally had decided to sell the herd.

But the day before the auction lightning struck a tree in a pasture and killed 20 of the 26 animals.

Mrs. McCluney said the cattle were worth about $4,000.

Black Group Organized in Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A "Consortium of Black Organizations" was formed Saturday to defeat what the Rev. J. F. Cooley of Little Rock called the white man's purpose.

"The point is to unify our efforts, to bring together people with good thoughts, good brains, good minds and good working habits," Cooley said.

It was Cooley's dismissal as a teacher at a Forrest City Junior High School that touched off a March disturbance at Forrest City.

About 70 persons attended Saturday's meeting at Shorter College in North Little Rock, but no one was sure how many organizations were represented.

The Rev. Iato Brooks of Forrest City said total unification of Negroes was impossible.

"If we wait for all black people to get together," he said, "we're going to be meeting at Shorter College when I'm 80 years old."

"This is not a movement, it's a revolution," Brooks said. "You got to choose sides. Are you black, white or Oreo—that's black on the outside and white on the inside."

Elijah Coleman, executive secretary of the Arkansas Council on Human Relations, told the group that there's never been a "black-white problem in this country."

"There's been a have-have-not problem," Coleman said. "Some folks eat, and some folks don't."

Negro School Head Hits Guidelines

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — Charles Smith, superintendent of the Negro Kiblah School District in Miller County, says guidelines laid down by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare "takes away our rights to run our schools the way we want to."

The Justice Department issued an order last week that the Kiblah District merge with the Bright Star District in order to meet HEW desegregation guidelines.

Smith, a Negro, called the order a device "to take our schools away from us."

"I don't see any sue in those HEW guidelines," Smith said. "I want to keep our school and make it better."

Smith said Negroes own and operate the area served by Kiblah.

"Our community just won't be as much without our own schools," he says. "We have our own schools and three churches and want to keep it that way. Having our own school gives us pride in our community and a sense of identity."

Cecil Morris, superintendent of the all-white Bright Star District, said the merger would "do away with our schools and their schools and combined them — neither of us want that at all."

He said he had not received any official communication from HEW or the Justice Department concerning the suit.

"I guess we'll have to make the most of a bad situation if we have to," he said. "We readly can't and we're not going to fight the United States Department of Justice. It would just be a delay in tactics and we aren't going to spend school money just for that. We need all the money we've got."

Guard to Shake Up Commanders

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army National Guard, sometimes criticized for spotty leadership, is setting up machinery to weed out weak senior officers.

Starting next year, it was learned, three-man selection boards will meet in every state to review annually the records of officers with 20 years or more of service.

The boards, to include regular Army as well as Guard officers, will decide who stays and who should be dropped.

National Guard bureau officials said this means about 4,000 to 5,000 lieutenant colonels and colonels will be scrutinized each year. Veteran warrant officers also will be subject to annual review.

But guard generals are exempt from what is called "selective retention."

Lutherans Have Revolt of Own

By BENNET BOLTON
AP Religion Writer

DENVER (AP) — The largely conservative Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod was the unwitting sounding board today for a "white manifesto" issued by two outside clergymen and one of its own ministers in strong criticism of all major religions.

The Rev. Malcolm Boyd, Episcopal priest who authored the best-selling "Are You Walking With Me, Jesus?" led a Lutheran pastor and a Roman Catholic priest Sunday in issuing a brief document supporting the economic demands of the "black manifesto."

The Rev. Mr. Boyd, 46, a local Jesuit theology teacher, the Rev. Thomas Rauch, 38, and the Rev. Ken Sherman of a Lutheran church in Buffalo, N.Y., urged at a joint communion service that the so-called "underground" church of disillusioned Christians come to the surface to remake their denominations into small local religious communities that care about minorities and the Vietnam war.

park was in violation of Catholic and Lutheran rules about intercommunion.

The Rev. Dr. Jacob A.O. Preus 49, a Springfield, Ill., seminary president, was elected synod president Saturday night in an upset victory over the incumbent, the Rev. Dr. Oliver R. Harms of St. Louis.

Israelis Mop Up on Saboteurs

By GRANVILLE WATTS
Associated Press Writer

NABLUS, Occupied Jordan (AP) — Hundreds of Israeli troops moved into the biblical town of Nablus today and carried out the biggest systematic search for Arab saboteurs the occupied town has known.

The Israelis clamped a curfew on the Casbah and a refugee camp, then rounded up about 5,000 Arab men for checking.

The checkup followed a rash of grenade bombings and firing by Arab saboteurs in the Nablus area, famed for its resistance to occupiers since Napoleonic times.

Arab children were permitted to bring food and water to the men as they sat in the sun.

HOPE NEWSPAPER HISTORY:
The 1929 consolidation joined the two principal newspaper lines dating back to within five years of Hope's incorporation in 1875.

1899 — Star of Hope founded as a weekly by Claude Mc-Corkle; converted to an evening daily by his son, Ed. McCorkle, publishing until the 1929 consolidation.

The opposition line:
1880 — Hope News founded by Lowry Brothers.
1883 — Sold to Withers & Johnson, name changed to Hope Telegraph.

1883 — Later in same year resold to Claude McCorkle and renamed Hope Mercury.

1884 — Sold to James H. Betts, who named it Hope Gazette, under which name it was published continuously until 1922, published by Betts, J.L. Tullis, and Col. W.W.
Folsom the last-named dying in 1916.

1916 — Purkins & Gates bought the weekly Gazette and made it a companion paper to their new daily, Arkansas Evening Herald
— but both papers suspended in 1922.

1926 — Plant was revived by Curtis Cannon as the weekly Hempstead County Review.

1927 — Cannon sold plant to D.A. Gean, who established the morning Hope Daily Press.

1929 — C. E. Palmer and A.H.
Washburn consolidated The Star and the Press as Hope Star, with Palmer as president and Washburn secretary-treasurer.

1957 — Following Mr. Palmer's death Mrs. Palmer became president.

1960 — With Mrs. Palmer's retirement from Star Publishing Co. Washburn became 76 per cent owner and president — balance 24 per cent being held by Texarkana Newspapers, Inc.

Oswald: "What do you think of South's six-spade opening bid?"

Jim: "There is really no scientific way to bid this sort of freak hand. Six spades has to be a good gamble. There is always a good chance this line of bidding will cause the defense to go wrong, assuming that there is some way to defeat the contract."

Oswald: "As a matter of fact, if East opens a trump and holds onto all his clubs, he will beat the hand."

Jim: "It shows that, if South had bid scientifically, bidding spades a couple of times and then showing clubs, an alert West might well have opened a trump. As it was, you can't blame him for putting the king of hearts on the table. Why do you want to discuss this hand?"

Oswald: "I am afraid our recent articles have been concerned with fairly complicated playing problems. This is a very simple one. When I saw it played, South ruffed the heart lead and played trumps. East hung onto all his clubs and South was one down. He explained that he was afraid to play clubs before he drew trumps."

Jim: "A good example of being penny wise and pound foolish. He should have seen that he wasn't going to make his contract if the first or second club were ruffed. Therefore, he should have played a club to the queen at trick two, a club to his king at trick three, ruffed a low club at trick four, ruffed back to his hand with a heart, drawn trumps and conceded a diamond in the cool of the evening."

Histoplasmosis Not New, But Is Uncommon Disease

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—My son, 13, had histoplasmosis last year. Is this a new disease? How is it transmitted? Once you recover, can you get it again? Does it leave scars on the lungs?

A—This is not a new disease, but it is still relatively uncommon. It is caused by inhaling the spores of a fungus. These spores are found in dust from soil that is contaminated by the droppings of chickens, flying birds and bats. An attack confers some immunity for awhile, but heavy exposure to the fungus may cause a recurrence. As is the case with tuberculosis, some scars may remain in the lungs but the recovered victim is not handicapped by them.

Q—My son, 5, sleeps with his mother who is a very loud snorer. Will all that noise damage his hearing in time?

A—There is little danger that the snoring will damage your son's hearing but I would strongly advise giving him his own room before he is 6.

Q—My son, 9, has psoriasis on his hands and face. He goes to the doctor's office for special light treatments. Could these be given at home?

A—A sun lamp (ultraviolet light) has a beneficial effect on the lesions of psoriasis. If you purchase such a lamp, you should follow the accompanying instructions very carefully.

(Newspaper Enterprise Ass'n.)

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

The Smyrna fig depends upon the fig wasp for cross-pollination.

Q—When my daughter, 9, turns her head from side to side there is a cracking sound. What causes this? What is the treatment?

A—A cracking or grating sound in any joint is usually due to a roughening of the opposing surfaces or to a tendon snapping across a bony prominence. The best treatment is avoidance of sudden movements of the involved joint.

Q—What is a hemangioma? What would cause it in a newborn baby? Is there any cure for it?

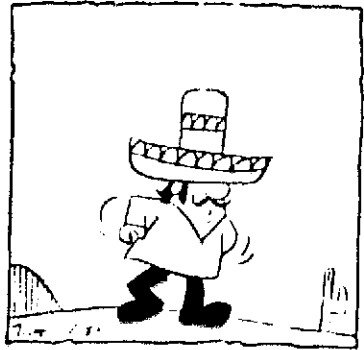

A—This is a type of mole made up of blood vessels. The cause is unknown. Most of them disappear spontaneously within two or three

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

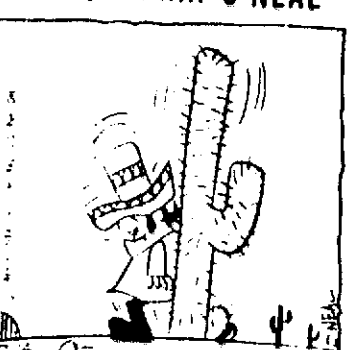

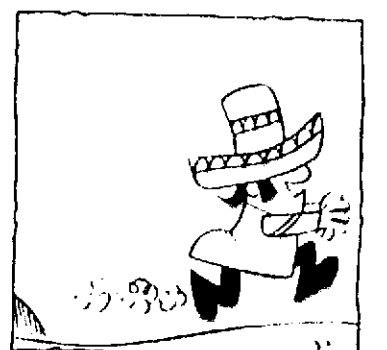

By the end of the 18th century, the British called all U.S. citizens Yankees. It is generally believed. The World Almanac says, that Yankee is a corruption of the Dutch Jan Kaas (John Cheese) applied by the English to Dutch pirates and, in the North American colonies, to all Dutchmen as a term of derision. In Germany and Flanders, Jan Kaas was known as a nickname for the Dutch for centuries.

Deadly Adventure
Travelers Home
Bridge Note

Wednesday marks the beginning of Man's greatest adventure—also his deadliest—the Apollo 11 attempt to land a man on the moon, and to bring him back alive.

I think the romance of moon lore was finally dispelled for this scientific age when radio signals a few years back were bounced off the surface of our satellite, proving what appearances had already told us—that the moon was a real land mass out there in space.

Recent close-up pictures indicate it is also a barren, airless waste.

And now the inevitable step—Wednesday's effort to put a man actually on the moon, gather samples of its crust, and then bring him out safely.

It all depends on the single engine which is designed to blast him off the moon and return him safely to the main spaceship hovering over his perilous excursion.

The prayers of the world go with the Apollo 11 crew this Wednesday.

Your editor and Mike Jones and Stan James returned home late Friday after a five-day excursion on the Tennessee River beginning at Pickwick Dam and Lock 117 miles east of Memphis. We drove 824 miles and cruised about 250 miles on the river, in a party of nine in two boats—the others being from Jackson, Miss., and Memphis. The pictures are coming up, and we'll hold the complete report to run with the pictures.

Editor The Star: I wish to congratulate you on your recent editorial in which you called attention to the deplorable condition of the Index bridge that spans Red River on U.S. 71 (Star editorial of June 25).

Perhaps, as a result of safety-minded persons such as you, action will be taken in time to avert another great tragedy.

I have enjoyed many of your editorial comments, and may you have many more. Sincerely
S. EDWIN AMONETTE

But safety is still a matter of people rather than things, whether bridges or highways.

When the two Hope boys and I were returning from our Pickwick Dam (Tenn.) excursion about 3 p.m. last Friday, a couple of miles east of the White River bridge on Interstate 40 we hit a small "Caution" sign which some misguided soul had placed squarely in the middle of the right-hand traffic lane.

Probably a road gang foreman told a temporary helper to put up the "Caution" sign to warn of shoulder work going on ahead, and the guy put the sign in the roadway instead of on the shoulder where you usually see road advisories. The sign caused slight damage to the car's hood only, involving insurance, of course, and whether anything is done about this matter will depend upon what the insurers decide.

But if nothing else is done I mean to write a letter to the State Highway Department calling its attention to the incident—for it's absurd practice for the road people to warn drivers about blocking the highway, and then letting one of their own people block it. I spotted the sign too late, and the boys say they never saw it at all.

3 Week-End Road Deaths in State

The Elmore child was killed Saturday when she was struck by a camper trailer being towed by a car near Pine Bluff on Arkansas 270.

Prouty of Maine Holds Pivotal Vote

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators in search of a compromise in the closely fought battle over President Nixon's Safeguard missile defense program looked hopefully today to Vermont Sen. Winston L. Prouty for support.

With the delivery of a scheduled floor speech on the antiballistic missile—ABM proposal today, Republican Prouty takes his name off the now nearly vanished list of Safeguard undecideds.

By finally taking a stand, Prouty joins his Vermont colleague, Sen. George D. Aiken, as one of the key figures in the ABM debate.

Aiken, also a Republican, came out last week against de-

Astronauts Speak Last Word to U.S. Before Blastoff

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)

— Astronauts Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., and Michael Collins pause in their training tonight to tell the nation how it feels to be going to the moon. The preparation of their spacecraft was ahead of schedule for Wednesday's launch and the weather is expected to be ideal.

As supercold oxygen and hydrogen flowed into some of the command ship and lunar lander systems, the space agency reshuffled its built-in "holds" to provide time for two additional quality control tests of the liquid hydrogen system as the 9:32 a.m. EDT launching nears.

The three astronauts, after last-minute rehearsal at make-believe flight controls, planned to work out in the gymnasium later in the day before going on television and radio at 7 p.m.

They'll be questioned by a panel of four newsmen on a program to be carried on all networks.

"God of a million, million wonders," said the Rev. Paul H.A. Noren in a service at the White House, "we ask Thy divine protection for our space pioneers who will soon make footprints on the moon."

Pope Paul, speaking extemporaneously from the window of the papal palace at Castel Gandolfo in Italy, said: "Let us devote our thought to the astronauts."

conquests and to allow for the forecast of more conquests of which even the imagination fails to dream now," the Pope said.

"Science fiction comes true. Man is at the center of this undertaking and appears to us as a giant, appears to us as divine, not in himself but in his principle and in his destiny."

The three astronauts spent most of Sunday in the crew quarters, but Armstrong and Collins took an hour each for some flying in conventional craft. They had planned to go to the beach, but rain intervened.

Armstrong practiced moon landings in a helicopter while Collins flew a T38 jet trainer.

Plants May Be Watered, Not Lawns

The Water Department supply continues to be taxed to its limits, even with restricted lawn sprinkling, the City of Hope announced today. During the past week the water department has not been able to fill all the storage capacity, but with reduced lawn sprinkling there has been at all times enough in reserve to meet fire protection needs.

The Water Department says that users continue to curtail water use for lawn sprinkling, but they believe there is adequate water to take care of all plants, flowers and shrubs that are in danger. While all grass is suffering, it will quickly come back with a good rain, but flowers and plants would, of course, be lost.

Russians Get Into the Moon Act

Moon Landing Shot Is Set Wednesday

By JIM STROTHMAN

AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)

— Sitting in their landing craft on the lunar surface, two Apollo 11 astronauts will stake their lives on a single engine that must work perfectly at least six minutes to rocket them safely away from the moon.

And because of the way the landing craft is built, it will be impossible to test-fire the motor before that critical moment.

Called an ascent engine, the motor is located at the base of the lunar module (LM) landing craft's cabin section, where astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. will be quartered.

Until the time of blastoff from the moon's surface, the engine is blocked by the LM's bottom section, containing a braking rocket and landing legs.

The landing section, called the descent stage, is to remain on the moon, serving as a launch pad.

"This engine has to work to get the crew back into a safe orbit where they can rendezvous" with astronaut Michael Collins in the Apollo 11 command ship, said mission director George H. Hage.

The 3,500-pound-thrust ascent engine is to be fired at 1:55 p.m. EDT July 21 for 7 minutes, 18 seconds. Sixty-nine seconds before Armstrong and Aldrin blast

The Commander

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)

— Neil A. Armstrong, who will command the Apollo 11 moon mission which blasts off Wednesday, had these words for 100 of the nation's brightest high school science students: "We wish we had your future."

Armstrong's words were contained in a telegram read at the concluding session of the three-week National Youth Science Camp, attended by the two top high school graduates of each of the 50 states.

"We know," Armstrong said in behalf of the three-man Apollo 11 crew, "that the next several decades will challenge the best you can offer."

off, Collins will have sped directly overhead in the command ship.

If all goes well, the ascent engine will propel the two moon explorers into an initial egg-shaped orbit ranging from 11 to 52 miles above the moon. For the first 14 seconds, the LM will climb straight up. It then is to tip over to an angle of 52 degrees and rocket into orbit at a speed of about one mile per second.

Small thruster rockets could propel the LM into orbit if the main ascent engine fails after six minutes—"but we must burn at least six minutes," said a space agency official.

Collins will be in a circular path 69 miles above the lunar surface. He will be prepared to lower his altitude to rescue his crewmates if LM engines fail and Armstrong and Aldrin are left in a low orbit.

But if the ascent engine shuts off before six minutes, the two LM pilots would not have enough speed to achieve orbit and would instead be on a ballistic path that would send them crashing back onto the moon before Collins could save them.

Hope Family Interviews Being Made

The City of Hope will be conducting family interviews during the next three weeks in connection with a study of local family characteristics. Interviewers will be contacting twenty per cent of the families living in the Hope area. The interviews will be confidential and neither names nor addresses will be asked.

The study will be used to determine the number and character of the local population and to project changes that can be expected to occur in future years. It is through use of such information that municipal services can be planned in advance of their need.
